PLANS to reshape healthcare in mid and south Essex are in jeopardy after Southend councillors agreed to refer them to the health secretary.

The move will mean that £118million in NHS funding will be frozen and secretary of state for health and social care, Matt Hancock, will now have to decide whether to respond to the council himself or send the referral to an independent review panel.

If Mr Hancock opts for the latter, the Mid and South Essex Sustainability and Transformation Partnership (STP) proposals may be on hold for 20 days while a review takes place.

The plans include assessment and treatment centres alongside the A&E departments at each of Basildon, Broomfield and Southend

Healthcare changes halted as plans are challenged

Hospitals as well as for a specialist stroke unit at Basildon.

Members of Southend's People's Scrutiny Committee met on Tuesday, October 9 to discuss the referral.

Council officers had initially recommended a referral to Mr Hancock based on the decision to central-ise stroke services at Basildon, but councillors chose to back an amendment from Labour calling for the whole plan to be challenged.

This amendment called the content of the consultation inadequate, expressed concerns over plans for the stroke unit and the transfer plans and notes that the plan as a whole would not be beneficial to Southend residents.

Speaking before the vote, deputy leader of the council James Courtenay urged all members to support the amendment in the interest of Southend residents.

Independent councillor Martin Terry called the plans "harmful" to Southend residents and said they have been put forward to "save money" rather than improve patient outcomes.

Labour councillor Matt Dent said: "The fact is since the beginning of this process the council has been asking questions about how this process will work, in particular the treat and transfer model and it has not stood up to scrutiny."

New Thames crossing to create 'toxic triangle'

by Piers Meyler

Local democracy reporter

ESSEX County Council has backed the option for a new £6bn Thames Crossing proposed by the Government – despite claims it will increase air pollution levels.

The council formally adopted a motion that "fully supports the Government's announcement of its preferred Option C for the proposed new Lower Thames Crossing" after overwhelming support from Tory councillors.

The council said: "The route would enable sustainable local development and regional growth leading to a stronger economy as well as proving a safe and reliable road that will improve the resilience of the wider road network.

"It will also greatly improve the wider economy of UK plc as well as Greater Essex and generate thousands of new jobs."

However, the session of full council heard the Option C plans for the Lower Thames Crossing – the most ambitious road project to be undertaken since the M25 – will seriously impact the environment, destroying homes, green belt land and ancient forests, causing "a serious impact on residents' health".

Lib Dem councillor David Kendall said: "I am disappointed the council is backing Option C. I believe this council should be standing shoulder to shoulder with the thousands of residents in Thurrock who are against Option C."

"If this proposal goes ahead, it will run a bulldozer through the green belt, it will increase air and noise pollution and have a major impact on many established communities."

"I am sure that all of us in the chamber will want to see more jobs and a stronger economy in Essex, but at what price?

"Serious consideration must be given to Option C's impact on the environment."

"Pollutions are high enough already with creating what will be known as the toxic triangle."

"This new road will have a very detrimental impact on many people's lives. It will destroy homes, green belt land, ancient forests and have a serious impact on residents' health and quality of life."

"It will also cause planning blight for many years to come."

High Street clean-up set to tackle rough sleeping

by Michael Cox

southend@yellowad.co.uk

REMOVING unattended items from shopfronts and doorways on Southend High Street will offer another way of engaging with rough sleepers, according to the deputy council leader.

The initiative is part of an action plan which aims to tackle issues such as rough sleeping and antisocial behaviour.

A council spokesman said a bid to improve the street scene in conjunction with businesses would see unattended items removed from privately owned shopfronts, doorways and publicly owned highway, which would be stored and made available to collect.

Deputy leader James Courtenay said: "Part of what we want to do is clean up the High Street, so it looks more pleasant.

"I think removing unattended items and closing off empty shopfronts will help do this.

"By removing items and making them available for collection, this will also give us another opportunity to engage with those that are rough sleeping.

"If we leave unattended items all over the High Street, it looks a mess and doesn't help get people off the streets."

The move was one of a number announced by the council as part of the action plan created following a summit attended by councillors, Essex Police and Southend Business Improvement District (BID) last month.

It includes key objectives such as ending rough sleeping on the High Street, reducing begging and street drinking, as well as making the High Street feel safer and more attractive.

As part of the plan, no drinking signs are set to be installed and a strategy developed to implement enforcement legislation for street drinking.

The number of outreach visits to rough sleepers will also be increased, while a six-member Community Safety Team started work this week to support the police in reducing antisocial behaviour.

Cllr Courtenay said: "It has been clear that we need more staff on the High Street to support the activity already under way by police officers and BID street rangers.

"Having uniformed council officers present seven days a week, just three weeks after the summit, shows the emphasis we are placing on addressing the public's concerns, and the pace at which we're moving ahead with our action plan.

"These early actions are just the very first step in collectively tackling the issues the High Street faces, and there will be far more to come."

The YA reported this month about the introduction of the action plan, part of a "zero-tolerance approach" to aggressive begging, street drinking and antisocial behaviour pledged by Cllr Courtenay, who admitted that people "feel unsafe" on the High Street.

Dawn Jeakings, chairman of Southend BID, said the action plan and the community safety team have been brought in "at an ideal and important time for the town centre".

Campaigner's delight at decision to refer healthcare plan

"We have had information but no hint of how this will function. This is a scrutiny committee and I would argue that having scrutinised these proposals they do not stand up."

The vote to make the full referral was backed by all members bar one who abstained.

Conservative Cllr Bernard Arcscott, chairman of the Mid and South Essex Sustainability and Transformation Partnership (STP) scrutiny committee, said: "I am in support of making referral over the stroke unit as that way if we have further concerns at another point we can make another referral.

"If the secretary of the state does not uphold our full referral and does not endorse our objections, we will be back to square one."

Cllr Denis Garne, who abstained from the vote, warned that referring the whole plan will "risk losing everything" if the secretary of state does not agree.

Secretary of campaign group Save

Southend NHS, Mike Fieldhouse, said he was overjoyed at the decision.

He said: "Our councillors have listened to the serious concerns our Save Southend NHS campaign has highlighted. I believe the final result will now be better healthcare and services for the people of Southend."

A spokesman for Essex County Council, which will be effected by the referral, said it would continue to back the STP despite Southend's decision.

He said: "A Joint Health Overview

Scrutiny Committee has looked at the proposals and did not recommend it for referral. We respect, however, the right of the Southend's people and scrutiny committee to take a different view for their residents."

Professor Mike Bewick, independent chairman of the joint committee of the five clinical commissioning groups in mid and south Essex, called Southend's decision "frustrating" and said the STP is confident that the plans will enhance hospital care for the whole population.

NEWS IN BRIEF

● SUPERHEROES attended Southend Hospital's Neptune ward to bring a smile to the faces of young patients.

The visit was among activities at the hospital as part of National Play in Hospital Week, between October 8 and 12.

The hospital's play team arranged guests, displays, and activities to celebrate and promote the importance of play within the hospital.

Clair Gentry, play assistant, said: "We love to play and it is really important for all children and young people as it enhances their development and wellbeing."

● A CHARITY raised more than £500 from an apple day held in Southend.

The money will go towards Trust Links, which supports people to improve mental health and wellbeing.

The event took place at St Laurence Orchard earlier this month, with 300 people attending and taking part in activities such as apple juicing and apple picking.

● HALF-TERM is looming and a music workshop for children is being held in Westcliff.

Starting at 10am, the day welcomes all instruments from keyboards and guitars to percussion and brass.

For ages seven and above, attendees will be able to discover different instruments and learn new music.

The cost is £9 per child for the day and can be booked at musicalmonday.eventbrite.co.uk.

Council approves 'toxic triangle' crossing option

The major new road linking Kent and Essex is said to nearly double road capacity across the Thames and almost halve northbound journey times at Dartford.

This was the new message from the Highways Agency as updated plans were unveiled.

The multi-billion pound project has been in the planning stage for years, with the aim of reducing the Dartford Crossing's daily traffic misery.

But Highways England has said the latest version of plans will create a new three-lane dual carriageway connecting the M2 near Rochester and the M25 in Essex between North and South Ockenden.

It will include a 2.4-mile tunnel under the Thames between Tilbury and Gravesend, making it the longest in the UK.

The project, set to be the biggest since the 1970s, aims to be completed by 2027.

It will be more than 50ft wide, making it the largest bored tunnel in the world.

The new crossing is expected to reduce traffic at Dartford by 22 per cent, with 14million fewer vehicles using it every year.

But campaigners say a little heard of A14 route - proposed as a tunnel running between Junction 2 (M25 in Kent) and surfacing between junctions 29 and 30 (M25 in Essex) - bypassing

M25: An artist's impression of how the motorway will look the A282 completely - should be the option backed by the council.

Cllr Kendall added: "This council should be calling in Highways England to reconsider the A14 tunnel option.

"The A14 option would improve congestion at the current crossing, it will complete the M25 as an orbital motorway, it will cause far less environmental damage and it could take as much as 40 per cent of traffic from the existing crossing."

Highways England says the proposed 14.5-mile route will almost halve morning peak average journey times between M25 junctions 1b and 31 from nine minutes to five.

Despite a lack of information on the introduction of tolls, it is thought that drivers will need to pay for the privilege of passing through the tunnel.

Highways England has said the plans take into consideration the small communities these plans are set to affect.

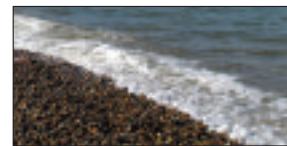

Highways cabinet member Cllr Kevin Bentley said: "This is about the future of Britain and we have to prove to the world that Britain is open for business."

Pupils celebrate their fundraising effort for armed forces charities

CHILDREN at a school in Leigh helped to fundraise as part of a day commemorating the 100th anniversary of the end of the First World War.

Children at Edwards Hall Primary, in Macnardo Road, dressed in red, white and blue and made a £1 donation towards three national armed forces charities – Royal Navy and Marines Charity, The Army's National Charity and Royal Air Force Benevolent Fund.

Classes worked together throughout the day taking part in First World War-themed activities, including painting cobblestones to be put around the school's Anderson shelter ahead of Remembrance Day next month.

A street party was held for the children in the afternoon.

Man robbed woman who gave him refuge when he felt 'unwell'

A MAN has been jailed for seven and a half years for robbing an elderly woman in Southend who helped him after he claimed he was sick.

At Basildon Crown Court on Thursday, October 11, Daniel Sach, 31, of Howlish View, Coundon, County Durham, was sentenced to six years for robbery and 12 months for theft to run consecutively.

He received six months for three counts of fraud, to run concurrently with each other but consecutively with the other offences.

PRISON: Daniel Sach

Sach admitted all the offences at a previous court appearance.

At 7pm on October 21, 2017, Sach knocked at the home of a woman aged in her 70s and claimed to be feeling unwell.

She took pity on him and allowed Sach to stay on her sofa but found her phone and purse missing the next morning.

Police were called at 3am on January 3 by the same woman who was woken up by a noise in her home. She was punched three times in the face by Sach, who took her handbag, glasses and purse containing bank cards and cash.

He used her bank cards to withdraw a four-figure sum of cash.

DC Victoria Leese, of Southend CID, said: "I hope this outcome and the thought of Sach locked away offers some comfort to the victim, who has shown nothing but courage and bravery during our investigations."

No longer a party of the people

ONCE upon a time I was a strong Labour Party supporter and an active trade unionist, but in those days I was ruled mostly by my heart.

Now that I am older and wiser I am ruled mostly by my brain. The Labour Party used to be a party of the people, but it has changed to a party against the people and provides senseless policies purely to oppose the Government which seems to be representing the electorate's wishes.

I am of course speaking of the most important issue since the Second World War, Brexit.

Leaving the EU with no trade deal does not mean we will no longer trade with Europe, but it does mean that we can trade with the rest of the world and increase our opportunities.

We will also have the added advantages of controlling immigration and making our own laws without being dictated to.

Because of this I strongly believe that no deal is the best deal we can get. We can then return to the freedom that our ancestors fought and died for.

I have to admit that I was impressed by Mrs May's speech at the Tory Conference and respect her for her strength as she fights off the attacks from the EU, her own weaker MPs and the failing opposition.

We need to take back control of our country and stop the attempts to bully us, as we did in two previous world wars, because understand this, Brexit is a battle we must not lose.

Leave now with NO DEAL and show British spirit again.
Keith Little, Benfleet

Lack of urgency in protecting our heritage

THERE are many conservation areas in Southend-on-Sea, five in Milton ward alone.

We have a rich array of heritage assets, evident in the fact the borough ranks seventh in the heritage assets index out of 325 local authorities.

We get warm words from the ruling administration locally as regards to conservation, but this is not matched by action. Their commitment is best illustrated by missed working party meetings, and at one point over a year when the Conservation Working Party did not meet.

I do not doubt that many in the council (both members and officers) care deeply that our heritage assets are preserved and enhanced, but I do not get a sense of any urgency in this. A rather limp approach to conservation threatens what we have.

The Conservative administration is still intent, for example, on building a monstrous museum in the cliffs at Westcliff-on-Sea, not only spoiling a heritage asset, but also spoiling a beautiful green space.

So much for doing something for the environment. (I still favour putting the museum in the High Street, maybe in the old BHS building).

I think we should be more gung ho in our defence of the assets that we have inherited.

These assets (buildings, parks) should not just have all the protection we can provide, we should also be promoting them. Places like Bath and Brighton used their inheritance to sell their attractions.

We should also push to attract funding, we are a long way from getting anywhere near the amount of money that other local authorities get.

Looking after our heritage does not mean "no change".

It does mean retaining the good, and ensuring all new developments are designed sympathetically as regards to its neighbours.

Let's keep Southend beautiful, and let's ensure that generations to come are not robbed by poor decisions taken today.

Cllr Julian Ware-Lane Labour, Milton

Why are we not bothered about rule breaking?

REGARDING the latest situation concerning Brexit, I am not only quite annoyed to find that Vote Leave broke the law, but also to see that very few people seem bothered by this.

There are now so many issues regarding the referendum itself, not to mention the many issues affecting the country negatively due to the mere thought of us leaving the EU that I find it extremely surprising that many people chose to ignore what is going on around them.

As an issue that affects everyone, surely it makes sense for those affected to have a say on what they are going to get once Theresa May returns from Brussels with a finalised deal.

I am heartened that so many are preparing to take part in a People's Vote march on Saturday, October 20, and only hope that those in power are paying attention and will act in the country's best interests.

After all, that is what our MPs are elected to do.

*Katy Trevorton
Westcliff*

Council clueless on museum expenditure

SKIPP (Saxon King in Priory Park) recently sent in a Freedom of Information request to Southend Borough Council asking for a complete financial breakdown of all direct and indirect costs incurred by SBC since the inception of the cliffs museum project.

Southend Council replied that to gather that information would take "many hundreds of hours" and would therefore be too expensive to undertake.

The council does not know how much taxpayers' money has so far been spent on its white elephant vanity project!

This reveals an utterly shockingly level of financial incompetence and a contemptuous attitude to all of us who pay our council tax.

*The SKIPP Committee
Patsy Link
Sheena Walker
Mark Sharp
Southend-on-Sea*

Support Missed Moments campaign

AS an ambassador for SSAFA, the armed forces charity, I am proudly supporting its Missed Moments campaign.

The campaign aims to highlight the unique challenges faced by military families in Essex and the impact that serving has on the whole family.

The results show that there is another level to the sacrifices they make – sacrifices which aren't always known or understood by the wider population.

SSAFA recently surveyed Armed Forces families, both past and present and found that 56 per cent have been apart for once-in-a-lifetime events, such as the birth of a child or the funeral of a loved one, due to service or deployment.

These sacrifices are little understood by the wider population – the survey revealed that 81 per cent of the public were unaware that military deployment can be up to 10 months.

SSAFA provides lifelong support to the whole armed forces community, understanding the complex nature of military service and the effect it can have on the wider family. The charity seeks to support the whole family, from help with school-runs and hospital appointments to providing support in time of financial or emotional need.

Most of my close friends are in the forces and I always seem to have someone away from home, whether that's in places such as Iraq or Afghanistan or closer to home helping with flood relief.

It is extremely difficult, but just part and parcel of life behind the wire.

Thankfully with modern military technology, we can at least keep in touch most of the time. I can only imagine how difficult it must have been for families in the past, who had no contact for months and for those deployed away from home, and away from their families, friends and loved ones.

To find out how you can support SSAFA, visit ssafa.org.uk/donate.

*Antony Cotton
SSAFA Ambassador and Coronation Street Actor*

Back to Beatlemania

by Lewis Berrill

features@yellowad.co.uk

BEATLEMANIA is coming to east London this holiday season as one of the country's top tribute acts looks to resurrect the fervour of the Fab Four's heyday.

Wednesday, December 5, as part of their latest UK tour.

It has been 56 years since the band's debut hit Love Me Do and this magical musical show will transport you back to the golden era of pop with hit after hit.

The Magic of The Beatles uses authentic

The Beatles, formed in Liverpool in 1960, are the best-selling band in history, with an estimated 800million physical and digital sales worldwide. They have had more British number one albums and sold more singles in the UK than any other act. They achieved unparalleled cross-Atlantic success, and are also the best-selling music artists in the USA.

The question of best Beatles record is debated in pubs, parks and living rooms, yet we are no closer to a consensus, such is the vast range of styles produced by the band.

She Loves You, Please Please Me, From Me To You, Help, I Feel Fine, Yesterday, Hey Jude, Let It Be and so many more, it's impossible to choose – so why not head to Hornchurch and enjoy all the hits we know and love.

FAB: The Magic of The Beatles

The Magic of The Beatles will play the Queen's Theatre, Hornchurch, on tic instruments and amplifiers to help pre-create all of the sounds with stunning accuracy, further enhanced by the use of superb replica costumes which represent all of the eras of the Beatles' career, from their early mop-top roots, through psychedelia and then on to the final studio years.

Every tiny detail is meticulously covered from the Liverpool banter to their vocal mimicry.

Clark Gilmour stars as John Lennon, David Paterson as Paul McCartney, Richard Petch as George Harrison and Joe Montague as Ringo Starr.

The group was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 1988 and all four members were inducted individually from 1994 to 2015.

Following the 50th anniversary reissue of Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band last year, their 1968 LP, The Beatles, known as the White Album, will be repackaged in November, remixed by Giles Martin, son of the band's producer Sir George, with additional out-takes and alternate takes of the original track listing.

The Beatles are a musical phenomenon like no other. Never has the world been gripped by such feverish admiration for a band in the way the Beatles inspired droves of dedicated fans.

Trick or treat

FEAR: Judy Greer as Karen and Jamie Lee Curtis as Laurie Strode
PA Photo/Universal Pictures/Ryan Green

HALLOWEEN (18, 106 mins)

THE boogiemaniac does exist and for decades, he has taken the towering form of masked maniac Michael Myers in a series of blood-drenched thrillers, which began with John Carpenter's seminal 1978 slasher Halloween.

Director David Gordon Green and co-writers Jeff Fradley and Danny McBride casually disregard the nine films which followed for a comfortably old-fashioned return to the scene of the original crime: the sleepy community of Haddonfield.

Jamie Lee Curtis and Nick Castle reprise their roles as ultimate survivor Laurie Strode and Michael for a climactic showdown that will appease fans of the series, set to the chilling strains of Carpenter's repetitive synthesiser score.

There is nothing self-reverential, knowing or fussy about this Halloween: Michael surprises and overpowers his victims using familiar tactics and the deaths are relentless, clinical and exceedingly grisly.

There are occasional flashes of mordant humour like when a sheriff (Omar Dorsey), realises that the madman's rampage coincides with the date of his first killing spree.

"What are we gonna do? Cancel Halloween?" drolly quips the law man.

Thankfully not, otherwise audiences would be denied one of the stronger instalments of the long-running series.

As the 40th anniversary of the Haddonfield murders beckons, true crime podcasters Aaron Korey (Jefferson Hall) and Dana Haines (Rhianna Rees) visit Smith's Grove rehabilitation facility.

They meet psychiatrist Dr Ranbir Sartain (Haluk Bilginer), who oversees the day-to-day care of notorious inmate Michael Myers (Castle), and foolishly attempt to bait the patient by brandishing his mask.

Alas, Michael remains eerily silent so the journalists focus on Laurie Strode (Jamie Lee Curtis), the one woman to survive Myers' bloodbath.

She has become a recluse inside a fortified cabin with a basement panic room.

Laurie is reluctant to share the gory details of her past or talk about the estrangement from her daughter Karen (Judy Greer) and granddaughter Allyson (Andi Matichak).

Soon after, the bus which is transferring Michael to a new facility crashes and the hulking predator is released back into the wild.

He heads to Haddonfield where an agitated Laurie tries in vain to prepare her loved ones for the coming storm.

"Say goodbye to Michael and get over it," sighs Ally, dismissing her grandmother so she can party with boyfriend Cameron (Dylan Arnold) and best friend Vicky (Virginia Gardner).

Halloween repeatedly bows its head to Carpenter's original film, relying on solid jump scares to ensure a spiralling body count.

Curtis transforms Laurie into a gun-toting avenging angel, who has secretly prayed for Michael's escape so she can lay him to rest forever with the pull of a shotgun trigger.

Action sequences are briskly choreographed and the script neatly aligns female characters as a unified force of strength against a male aggressor.

GAMING

By Ben Catley-Richardson

A match-winning strike

Title: FIFA 19
Platform: PC, Xbox One, PS4, Switch
Genre: Sports
Price: £49.99

FIFA 19 is the latest performance of one of the biggest spectacles in gaming.

Calling it a football game just doesn't do it justice anymore, given the soaraway success of FIFA Ultimate Team's outrageously addictive squad-building mode (now with better tactics, improved controls and app support) or the committed, if cringe-worthy, narrative offered by The Journey's story mode – which this year is structured around the newly poached UEFA Champions League official licence.

Elsewhere, brilliant new game modes are available, from Headers and Volleys to Longshots Count Double. It can't match the more realistic poise of Pro Evolution Soccer, but FIFA 19 is unstoppably enjoyable and, crucially, immensely accessible, promising drama, thrills and near-impossible feats of athleticism.

Skip to the end: Another signing of breakneck, exhilarating fantasy football

Score: 9/10

Title: Super Mario Party
Platform: Switch
Genre: Party

Price: £44.99

Bring your friends

Super Mario Party is the perfect game when you've a house full of revellers in need of some daft conflict.

It's a combination of boardgame-based pursuit and a hugely varied collection of four-player minigames (though all can be bolstered with AI rivals), where your score in a game drives your progress on the board. Of the 80 minigames, a huge number use the Switch's motion controls to great effect, from flipping unappetising cubes of meat over a hot stove to chivvying race horses along a track, shaking sweets out of a jar or slapping opponents away in a bout of competitive photobombing.

Super Mario Party reminds us the Switch provides exactly the same riotous fun as the Wii always did.

Skip to the end: An enjoyable mix of ingeniously silly multiplayer contests

Score: 8/10

Home of the week

Arcadian Gardens, Hadleigh

LOCATED in a quiet cul-de-sac and within the King John School catchment is this substantial and beautifully presented character family home.

The accommodation has been meticulously maintained and updated to an exceptional standard by the current vendors which must be viewed internally to be appreciated.

Accommodation is spacious and provides entrance porch and entrance hall, attractive lounge, which leads to a conservatory/sun lounge, a substantial separate dining room, luxury re-fitted kitchen with integrated appliances, and this in turn leads to a second conservatory and an upgraded two-piece ground floor cloakroom.

At first floor there were originally four bedrooms, but currently two have been knocked into one to provide a huge dual aspect master bedroom, with two further double bedrooms and washing facilities by an upgraded tiled shower room.

The landscaped rear garden is 70-80ft and features outbuildings, summer houses and parking is via a pitch roof detached garage with further off-street parking to front.

With further benefits of UPVC double glazing, gas central heating, and offered in first class condition throughout, it is one we would recommend an early appointment to view.

MINI revamp offers personal touch

By David Whinyates

CREATING your own unique version of the MINI is about to get a lot easier thanks to a radical revamp of the brand's trim structure across the entire range.

From now on, buyers will be able to choose from three new model designations for all MINIs – Classic, Sport and Exclusive – each of which has been designed to make it easier than ever to choose the car of your choice, the company says.

The equipment offering across the MINI range has been brought into line for the first time.

Standard specifications have been enhanced, with the introduction of automatic headlights with rain sensors, MINI Excitement Pack including ambient interior lighting, exterior MINI logo projection and more as standard on every model.

But personalisation remains at the core, with each of the three styles further customisable from the brand's extensive range of exterior, interior, safety and technology options.

The Chili and Pepper packs have been discontinued, but parts of their contents are now offered within the

BESPOKE: Buyers can choose from three new model designations for all MINIs – Classic, Sport and Exclusive standard specs.

However, four add-on packs remain available which include the most popular upgrades.

The Navigation and Navigation Plus packs offer customers increased infotainment, navigation and online connectivity functionality while Comfort and Comfort Plus packs offer upgraded convenience and comfort features.

Priced from £16,190, the new Classic models will come with a 6.5-inch colour infotainment screen, intelligent emergency call, DAB digital radio and Bluetooth connectivity, ambient lighting, exterior MINI logo projection and automatic headlights with windscreen wiper rain sensor.

The Sport spec is only available with Cooper and Cooper S engines and starts at £20,230.

On top of the Classic spec, Sport variants come with sports suspension and a number of John Cooper Works add-ons including an aerodynamic kit and spoiler, alloy wheels, bucket seats and steering wheel.

The Exclusive model, also priced from £20,230, builds on the Classic specification with alloy wheels, chrome line exterior finish, leather upholstery and steering wheel and upgraded interior trim.

Again, the trim level is only available in combination with Cooper and Cooper S engines.

David George, director, MINI UK, says: "We know that customers today want a simple purchase experience, and this thinking has been central to the development of our new line-up."

"We have reduced complexity in our product offering, and harmonised options across the whole range, ensuring an easy customer journey whether in one of our retailers or on mini.co.uk."

The company reckons that buyers will now be able to choose and buy a new MINI in minutes and even complete the entire buying process online, thanks to the fact that the ordering process has been refined into five simple steps.

QUICKFIRE COX ON THE DOUBLE

Football

by Rowland Lyons at the Medway Priestfield Stadium

sport@yellowad.co.uk

Gillingham 0 Southend United 2 Sky Bet League One

A SIMON Cox second-half double made it three consecutive away wins for Chris Powell's men on Saturday as the Blues moved to within touching distance of the play-off zone.

Matchwinner Cox said: "It was a tough place to come to today. And, it's very hard when you go two-up, but the win means it's now about ticking the games off."

Despite kicking with the swirling wind engulfing the ground, the Blues endured a difficult opening half with Mark Oxley the busier of the two keepers, making smart saves from the industrious Tom Eaves and Callum Reilly.

Opportunities for the Blues were limited, with Cox going closest, on 15 minutes, after Dru Yearwood transfixed the home defence with some fine footwork.

After the turnaround, the Gills still looked in charge, but, arguably against the run of play, Cox delighted the travelling support with a fine finish, after fashioning out a chance from a Yearwood cross.

Having waited 51 minutes for their opener, Cox was again claiming the plaudits, barely two minutes later, when a Yearwood-led break picked out the marksman, who beat stranded keeper Tomas Holy with a fine angled drive.

Try as they might, the Gills found Oxley in a defiant mood, doing especially well on 76 minutes to thwart sub, Bradley Garnston.

Forced to play out seven minutes

BRACE: Simon Cox fired in twice within two minutes of stoppage time, the Blues held on to extend their unbeaten league run to five matches, and leave Powell saying: "It was a really good performance today."

"We played the conditions well in the first-half as we had been put under pressure. At the break I told the players to turn the volume up and there were two very good Simon Cox goals which won us the game."

He added: "We had to defend and Stephen Hendrie came in and did well, along with Micheal Turner and Taylor Moore. Ben Coker and Elvis Bwomono gave us the balance we needed."

With Cox now having hit five goals in as many games, the hitman added: "It's about keeping in the same areas and a question of taking the opportunities."

He admitted: "The first goal was about wriggling the ball out of my feet, although it took an age to go in. The second came from great Dru Yearwood play. I did think about squaring it for Theo Robinson in the box but thankfully it went in."

"And, with the likes of Theo and Stephen Hendrie coming in, we showed how much it was a squad performance today."

Southend entertain Coventry City in Sky Bet League One on Saturday, October 20, kick-off 3pm.

Dark clouds for Daggers after another defeat

Dagenham & Redbridge 1 Wrexham 2

Brian Jeeves reporting from Victoria Road

DAGENHAM & Redbridge remain embroiled in a National League relegation battle after finding themselves on the wrong end of a 2-1 defeat against high-flying Wrexham.

The Daggers went into the game hoping to end their five-match winless league run. Wrexham arrived at Victoria Road having suffered defeat just once in their last eight league outings.

A sustained spell of early pressure gave the Daggers hope that the corner could soon be turned.

But Wrexham weathered the early storm and were soon offering a threat of their own. Daggers keeper, Elliot Justham, did well to thwart Luke Summerfield with his feet. Then the stopper stooped low to his right to turn aside Jordan Maguire-Drew's speculative effort. Rekeil Pyke was a whisker away with a strike from distance, while Justham denied Maguire-Drew as the visitors looked to profit from some anxious Daggers defending.

As the half drew to a conclusion, Daggers found themselves one down. Pyke seized on some hesitant defending before teeing up Luke Young, who unleashed a strike into the top corner of the net from 25 yards.

However, within seconds, Brad Walker became the villain of the piece for Wrexham, deflecting into his own net in an attempt to clear.

The action continued after the break with substitute Akil Wright seeing his effort clip the bar thanks to Justham's intervention, while Stuart Beavon fired wide as Wrexham cranked up the pressure.

Lainton was forced into a smart save after Lamar Reynolds had found himself clear. But Reynolds' next involvement saw him trip Beavon, handing Summerfield the opportunity to fire Wrexham in front from the penalty spot.

Justham denied Wrexham a third, saving low to his right from Mike Fondop, while Romain's angled strike was kept out by Lainton as the sides exchanged opportunities.

Only a timely intervention from Liam Gordon prevented Paul Rutherford from putting the contest beyond doubt after the Wrexham sub had lobbed the advancing Justham.

It had been a spirited display from the home side, but yet again they had nothing to show for it.

Daggers boss Peter Taylor said after the game: "We know Wrexham are a good team, but there were enough good things from us maybe to try and nick a point."

He spoke about the pressures of being in a relegation battle, adding: "I am frustrated and embarrassed. I know it is a young squad, and it had to be because of the finances available, but I thought we'd have more than nine points from 48."

Dagenham & Redbridge travel to Boreham Wood for an Emirates FA Cup fourth qualifying round tie on Saturday, October 20 (3pm).

THE BIG MATCH

WEST HAM v SPURS

Premier League

London Stadium, Saturday October 20, 3pm

Non-league football

Ten-man O's held by Hartlepool

NON-LEAGUE DAY 2018 provided some big attendances for the region's clubs, no more so than at Brisbane Road where a sell-out crowd of 6,871 turned out to witness the east Londoners' goalless National League encounter with Hartlepool.

The O's were forced to play the last half an hour with 10 men following the dismissal of Joe Widdowson. James Dayton, Josh Koroma and James Alabi all went close to winning it for the home side, but they drop to third after sharing the spoils.

Bottom of the table Braintree Town almost provided a shock, coming within a few minutes of handing high-flying Salford City a defeat at Moor Lane.

Rory Gaffney had given the hosts an early lead. However, Mohamed Bettamer's brace, one from the penalty-spot, fired the Iron ahead. Salford hit back to earn a share of the points thanks to Adam Rooney's last-minute leveller.

Fellow strugglers, Dagenham & Redbridge, remain in trouble after goals from Luke Young and Luke Summerfield (pen) earned Wrexham a 2-1 success at Victoria Road. An own-goal from Brad Walker had given the Daggers hope, but it's now five defeats in a row for Peter Taylor's men.

A first-half strike from Moses Emmanuel handed Billericay Town all three National South points against Gloucester City in front of 1,420 at the AGP Arena. Chris Whelpdale gave Chelmsford City the lead at Woking only for Jamar Loza to equalise for the hosts after the break. But it was a frustrating afternoon for Concord Rangers, who slipped to a 2-0 defeat at Oxford City. AFC Hornchurch were beaten 1-0 at Corinthian-Casuals.

Sam Bantick scored a hat-trick, while Ross Wall hit two as Coggeshall Town won a hugely entertaining Bostik North encounter at Romford. Ayo Olukoga scored two of his own for the home side, while Nick Reynolds was also on target.

Heybridge Swifts also picked up maximum points as goals in each half from Harrison Chatting and Nicholas Brown saw off Bury town at the Aspen Valley Arena.

Alfie Hilton, Tony Stokes, Charlee Hughes and Kojo Aparenteng were on target as Brentwood Town made Buildbase FA Trophy progress with a 4-1 preliminary round victory over Marlow. Canvey Island also went through as Frankie Merrifield's late double saw off Cray Wanderers at Park Lane.

Matthew Briggs and De-Carrey Sheriff scored either side of the interval as Maldon & Tiptree won 2-0 at Chalfont St Peter, but the Wembley trail ended for a number of the region's other sides, including Tilbury, who were hammered 4-1 at home by Bedford Town.

Grays Athletic crashed out as visitors, Sevenoaks Town, ran out 4-2 winners, while Gt Waking Rovers went down by a single goal as East Grinstead Town won at Burroughs Park.

Barking lost 1-0 at home to Hayes & Yeading United, while FC Romania went out after hosts Hythe Town scored two unanswered goals.

Redbridge eased to a 4-1 Buildbase FA Vase first round proper success at Southend Manor. Takeley slipped out of the competition, losing 2-0 to Wodson Park.

In the Essex Senior League, Hullbridge Sports and Leyton Athletic played out an exciting 2-2 draw at Lower Road.

Selected action from the ProKit UK Essex Olympian League saw Buckhurst Hill thrash Canning 5-0 in their Premier League encounter. Rayleigh Town saw off Great Baddow 4-1 while Kelvedon Hatch and Old Southendian drew 2-2.

In Division One, Ongar Town beat Herongate Athletic 5-0. Lakeside were 6-1 winners over Beacon Hill Rovers in Division Two, while in Division Three Laindon Orient hammered White Ensign Reserves 5-0.
